“MODERNISSIMO” THEATRE

Noventa Vicentina has a long theatrical tradition thanks to the presence of a small 'jewel': the Modernissimo Theatre. It was built at the end of the 19th century in Art Nouveau style and since then, it has provided a venue for shows of local and sometimes international companies. It was inaugurated in September 1876, but later it was rebuilt with the addition of a coffee shop and a wing for dressing rooms : it was reopened in December 1910. The theatre took its current name of Teatro Modernissimo in 1919, when it also became a cinema. Since 2000, the Modernissimo is no longer a cinema, and since 2004 it has been offering an annual theatre show dedicated to children, which is entitled "A curtain between heaven and earth". At the end of 2008, all the furnishings in the auditorium and on the stage were renovated, and they are now red, replacing the mustard-green ones from the first restoration in 1985.

THE FAMILY CINEMA

It is located in Noventa Vicentina, near the Church, and it is very popular with young people. Inside, just at the entrance, there is the cash desk and a very small bar which sells chips and drinks. The projection room is wide, with lots of comfortable, red chairs. The screen is big. This cinema can also be used as a theatre as there is a stage in front of the screen.
